SECRET FEVER—ALBOPATHIC TREATMENT.

We yesterday published the treatment for this dangerous disease, upon the hydrostatic system, accompanied with the views and opinions of water-cure practitioners as to the merits of their practice. Their course of treatment is so simple, that in default of the advice of one of their practitioners, a parent can, with much confidence, undertake the care of a case of scarlet fever, if possible such advice is preferable, and should, if possible, be obtained. We appeal here with remarks, and treatment recommended, by a judicious allopathic physician. No parent should resort to it without competent medical advice, except to administer baths and water applications where recommended.
